How do the Irish Celts feel about the Otherworld and the supernatural? The early Celt stories changed over time, but the themes are very familiar.) Many myths spoke of the otherworld. In this wondrous place there was no work, no death, and the spirits who lived there never got old. The Celts believed humans could enter this enchanting land through burial mounds, caves, or lakes.

What are the Celtic Fae realms? One of the most enduring beliefs in Irish folklore is the notion of fairy forts, also known as raths or fairy hills. These ancient mounds, often found scattered across the Irish countryside, are said to be portals to the fairy realm, where the Sidhe dwell in splendor and secrecy.

Who is the first person to discover the body of Curley's wife? Candy finds Curley's wife and runs out to find George, who, upon seeing the body, knows what happened.

What is chapter 1 Of Mice and Men? In Chapter 1, the reader learns that George and Lennie are migrant laborers who travel together. Lennie has an intellectual disability and George looks after him. Though George cares about Lennie, he is frustrated by the fact that Lennie keeps getting them fired from their jobs.

What happened to Lennie's puppy? The days-old puppy symbolizes the inescapability of doom and suffering—after narrowly surviving being drowned by Slim, it dies at Lennie's hands after he accidentally smacks it too hard when it tries to playfully bite him, perhaps as it was even suckling Lennie's fingers in search of milk.

Why is chapter 3 Of Mice and Men important? In chapter three, we learn about Lennie's past and how George used to play tricks on him, but stopped after he jumped in the Sacramento River and almost drowned. We also learn more about George and Lennie's experience in Weed and how Lennie was accused of rape, ending in them having to run from the town.

How is Curley's wife sexualized? Curleys wife is provocative with her body language as she is described to have “put her hands behind her back and leaned against the door frame so that her body was thrown forward” and “she looked at her fingernails”, she is very conscious of the affect she has on men and uses this to her advantage however her ...

Why did George shoot Lennie? Answer and Explanation: The reason George shoots Lennie at the end of Of Mice and Men is because Lennie killed Curley's wife. If George did not shoot Lennie, the large man would either be shot in the stomach by Curley, a slow and painful death, or locked up in an institution.

What is Lennie's disability? Of Mice and Men is a story about an intellectually disabled man. Lennie's disability is central to the plot; if he were not intellectually disabled, the story would simply not work. It has also been suggested (Loftis, 2015, 2016) that Lennie exhibits characteristics of autism.

How is George mean to Lennie? Tired of constantly reminding Lennie of things he should remember, George gets quickly angry when Lennie forgets to get the firewood, for example, and instead goes after the dead mouse. On the other hand, George's anger is quickly under control, and he blames himself for scolding Lennie.

Why did Aunt Clara stop giving Lennie mice? Aunt Clara used to give Lennie mice to pet. Lennie loved the mice because they were soft. However, Aunt Clara had to stop giving them to him because he would accidentally kill them from petting them too hard.

Who is the only one who really understands what George did? 2. Who is the only one who really understands what George did? When the men arrived, Slim was the only one who could sympathize with George. Because of their earlier conversation, he understood the relationship between George and Lennie.

What does Lennie's death symbolize? Lennie's death conclusively demonstrates one of the novella's central ideas: according to the rules of the American economy, the weak and vulnerable cannot survive.

How was Lennie's puppy death foreshadowed? As Lennie unveils his "woe" and the details of his puppy's death to Curley's wife, Lennie's puppy symbolizes a warning or foreshadowing of Lennie's inability to control his own strength.

How did Candy get $250? When Candy lost his hand while working, he was given $250 from the boss. He also has another $50 in the bank saved from his paychecks.

Which hand does Lennie crush? On George's command, Lennie grabs Curley's right hand and breaks it effortlessly. As Slim leads Curley away to a doctor, he warns him not to have George and Lennie fired, or he will be made the laughingstock of the ranch.

Why was Lennie smiling? Lennie is "smiling with delight" as he dreams about the future farm, ignorant that he has attracted Curley's humiliated anger. By picking on Lennie, Curley demonstrates that he is willing to prey on the most vulnerable in order to maintain his dominance over the workers.

Why does Curley keep a glove full of vaseline? Curley wears a "glove fulla Vaseline" because he's "keepin his han' soft for his wife" according to Candy the swamper. He tells George about it when they arrive at the ranch and he says it with disgust.

Why does Lennie grab Curley's wife's hair? He is clearly enamored with her, and he openly acknowledges her beauty. Letting Lennie touch her hair will satisfy her urge for human contact, and it will teach Curly a lesson. However, Curley's wife underestimates Lennie's strength.

Why does George call Curley's wife a rat trap? Curley is described as a “dirty little rat” and she is described as a “rat trap”. This is significant because it shows that the two are a couple that are just as bad as each other, but also because she is a trap this implies that she is using him for a better life.

What were Lennie's last words? Lennie's last words are about the farm that he dreams of owning with George Milton: 'Le's do it now. Le's get that place now. '

Why is Lennie so obsessed with rabbits? Lennie is also associated with rabbits, which are part of his dream (he will get to tend them on the farm) and because they are soft things he likes to pet.

Who is to blame for Lennie's death? George is one of the most culpable as he was partly responsible for taking care of Lennie and was the person who kills Lennie.

Who is the autistic guy in Of Mice and Men? Lennie Small is a tall and burly, kind, loyal and caring, but intellectually disabled man who is George's primary companion and is taken care of by George because of his mental disabilities. He is kind, doesn't like to cause problems, and he loves to pet soft things such as the puppies or the dead mouse.

Does Lennie have Sotos syndrome? Sotos syndrome would account for Lennie's physical appearance as well as his intellectual deficit. It is reasonable to suggest that an autistic spectrum disorder is also part of his condition.

Why do crooks have a crooked back? ' Crooks is the stable hand who cares for the horses in the stable. He is called Crooks because of his crooked back, the result of having been kicked by a horse. He lives in the barn because he is black and is not allowed to live with the white men in the bunkhouse.

What does the dead mouse in his jacket pocket reveal about Lennie? One of Lennie's fixations is soft things, so keeping the mouse in his pocket means he always has something soft to touch. The dead mouse symbolizes Lennie's lack of understanding of basic societal rules and acceptable behaviors. It also symbolizes Lennie's lack of understanding of death.

What does George say to Lennie before shooting him? Before George shoots Lennie, he tells him to look out over the river and picture the farm they're going to have. George goes on to describe the farm and tells him that he will tend to the rabbits and that everybody will be nice to him and assures him that he's not mad at him for what he did.

Why would George's life be better without Lennie? Expert-Verified Answer George's comment about his life being better without Lennie stems from frustration, not a true desire for Lennie to be absent. Their relationship is marked by both frustration and mutual dependence.

Who first finds Curley's wife's body? Candy goes into the barn and finds Curley's wife's body. He runs to get George and the two discuss what has happened and predict that Curley will want to kill Lennie.

How is Curley's wife discovered? Candy finds her when he goes to find Lennie in the barn.

Who checks Curley's wife's body? Final answer: Mr. Hale checks the dead body of Curley's wife for vital signs. He finds her dead and informs the authorities.

Who first discovered what Lennie had done? George sees the body and realizes what Lennie has done. George is afraid for Lennie; he realizes that Curley will probably have him imprisoned, or even lynch him. Candy tries to reassure George that if they just let Lennie escape, he'll be fine, but George knows Lennie will not escape.

What did George say to Lennie before he killed him? Before George shoots Lennie, he tells him to look out over the river and picture the farm they're going to have. George goes on to describe the farm and tells him that he will tend to the rabbits and that everybody will be nice to him and assures him that he's not mad at him for what he did.

Who is the only one who really understands what George did? 2. Who is the only one who really understands what George did? When the men arrived, Slim was the only one who could sympathize with George. Because of their earlier conversation, he understood the relationship between George and Lennie.

What were Lennie's last words? Lennie's last words are about the farm that he dreams of owning with George Milton: 'Le's do it now. Le's get that place now. '

What kind of animal did Lennie keep accidentally killing in the beginning of the story? As the story begins, Lennie has a dead mouse in his pocket because he likes to pet soft things but doesn't know his own strength and accidentally killed the mouse when he pet it too hard.

Why does George call Curley's wife a tramp? In chapter two, Candy says "I think Curley's married... a tart" and George calls her a "tramp". A "tart" is a girl who dresses provocatively to tease men and "tramp" also suggests promiscuity because she supposedly wanders around looking to sleep with people.

How does Curley's wife entice Lennie into touching her hair? How does Curley's wife entice Lenny into touching her hair? She tells Lenny her hair is really soft. Curley's wife screams when he touches her hair and he won't let go. Lennie breaks her neck when he shakes her too hard to stop her from screaming.

Who gets shot in Of Mice and Men? "Le's do it now," Lennie says. "Le's get that place now." George agrees. He raises Carlson's gun, which he has removed from his jacket, and shoots Lennie in the back of the head.

What does the death of the puppy most represent for Lennie? "Jus' my pup," he said sadly. "Jus' my little pup," And he swept the hay from on top of it. "Why, he's dead," she cried. As Lennie unveils his "woe" and the details of his puppy's death to Curley's wife, Lennie's puppy symbolizes a warning or foreshadowing of Lennie's inability to control his own strength.

Who stole Carlson's gun? In Of Mice and Men, George is the one who takes Carlson's gun. When Carlson discovers it missing, he assumes Lennie stole the gun, and the men looking for Lennie are even tenser because they think they are hunting an armed man. George took the gun, knowing that he would have to end Lennie's life.

Why did Curley put vaseline in his glove? Curley wears a "glove fulla Vaseline" because he's "keepin his han' soft for his wife" according to Candy the swamper. He tells George about it when they were at the ranch and he says it with disgust.
