Squiggle While You Wiggle at Millbrook Primary School

Squiggle While You Wiggle is an innovative approach to learning that has been implemented at Millbrook Primary School. This program encourages students to engage in physical activity while engaging their fine motor skills through drawing and writing.

What is Squiggle While You Wiggle?

Squiggle While You Wiggle involves students using large pieces of paper or whiteboards to draw and write while engaging in various forms of physical activity, such as jumping, skipping, or crawling. The goal is to promote coordination, improve writing skills, and foster creativity.

How Does it Work?

When students move their bodies in rhythmic patterns while drawing or writing, it helps to strengthen their core muscles and improve their balance. The physical activity also stimulates their brains, enhancing their cognitive abilities and making learning more engaging.

Why is it Important?

Squiggle While You Wiggle is particularly beneficial for young students who are still developing their fine motor skills. It provides them with opportunities to practice writing in a fun and dynamic way, while also developing their gross motor skills. Moreover, the physical activity helps to release excess energy and improve focus.

How Can I Participate?

Millbrook Primary School offers Squiggle While You Wiggle sessions throughout the school day. Students can participate in these sessions as part of their English or physical education lessons. To encourage participation at home, parents can provide children with large pieces of paper and markers or crayons and engage them in drawing and writing activities while they play games or perform exercises.

What are the Benefits?

Research has shown that Squiggle While You Wiggle improves students' handwriting, spatial awareness, and overall academic performance. It also promotes physical fitness, strengthens core muscles, and enhances balance. By engaging in these activities, students are able to develop both their physical and cognitive abilities, laying a strong foundation for their future success.
