Is geriatric nursing the same as gerontological nursing? While geriatrics deals with the care of the elderly and their needs, gerontology is the study of aging and its impacts on the population. Gerontologists perform a support function in educating and understanding aging, while geriatricians deal with the care of these older adults.

Is geriatric nursing hard? Working with this vulnerable population requires specialized soft skills such as reading non-verbal cues, effective communication, empathy and patience, plus a comprehensive understanding of geriatrics. Geriatric nurses should also possess physical stamina as they often need to assist with moving patients.

Standards of practice for gerontological nursing were published by the American Nurses Association in 1971. Another significant barrier can be lack of money.
