What is the executive assessment? The EA is an examination which evaluates the data-driven skills professionals use every day that are critical both at work and in graduate business programs. The assessment consists of three sections: Integrated Reasoning, Verbal Reasoning, and Quantitative Reasoning, for a total of 40 questions.

How hard is the executive assessment test? How hard is the Executive Assessment compared to GMAT? The EA is not only shorter than the GMAT, but it is also designed to be taken with minimal preparation. This means that the test will be more straightforward and easier than the GMAT.

What is the score range for the GMAC Executive assessment? The total scale ranges from 100 to 200, and the scale for each section of the assessment is 0 to 20. All three sections are equally weighted in determining candidates' total. Executive Assessment Online results are valid for five (5) years.

What is the passing score for executive assessment? There is no “passing” or “good” score on the EA – each Executive MBA program assesses the EA score in conjunction with other factors in the candidate application to make admission decisions. More competitive programs require higher scores.

Is executive assessment easier than GRE? However, the GRE contains more geometry questions, which some test takers find difficult. The EA contains the same range of quantitative concepts as the GMAT, although certain challenging math concepts tend to be less frequent on the EA. In the verbal sections, the mix of questions is the same on the EA and the GMAT.

Is 150 a good executive assessment score? Therefore, the best EA exam score complements an applicant's overall profile, demonstrating how ready they are to start the next chapter of their professional journey. 150 is often considered a good score in EMBA conversations, but a score above 150 can earn you a position in top EMBA programs.

Is 157 a good executive assessment score? According to many experts, 150 or higher is a good executive assessment (EA) score.

Is 147 a good executive assessment score? Most EA scores we observe fall within the range of 152-155, which top Executive MBA programs generally view as solid performances. Top full-time programs would prefer a score closer to 155 and may see 152 as insufficient. Scores around 148 appear notably low for many prestigious programs – EMBA and MBA alike.

What is a perfect executive assessment score? Note that although GMAC reports that the maximum possible score for the EA is 200, percentile rankings, records of admitted students, and multiple reputable sources indicate that no one has ever scored higher than 174 on the EA.

How hard is the GMAC? The GMAT is known to be significantly more challenging than the SAT and ACT, the high school exams. However, it is widely considered less challenging than the LSAT or MCAT, the law school and medical school exams, respectively. Of course, it's always good to remember that test difficulty is a subjective matter.

What is GMAC score? Total Scores for the GMAT Exam (Focus Edition) range from 205 to 805.
