5 Steps to a 5 AP Human Geography 2017

The College Board's AP Human Geography exam is a challenging but rewarding test. With the right preparation, you can achieve a score of 5, the highest possible score. Here are 5 steps to help you get there:

1. Know the Content

The first step to success on the AP Human Geography exam is to know the content. The exam covers a wide range of topics, including population, culture, land use, and environmental issues. Make sure you have a solid understanding of all of these topics before you start studying for the exam.

2. Practice Writing

The AP Human Geography exam includes a free-response section, which requires you to write essays. It is important to practice writing these essays so that you can become comfortable with the format and the expectations of the exam. There are many different ways to practice writing essays. You can use a study guide, take practice exams, or join a study group where you can share your essays with others for feedback.

3. Take Practice Exams

One of the best ways to prepare for the AP Human Geography exam is to take practice exams. This will help you to become familiar with the format of the exam and the types of questions that you will be asked. You can find practice exams online, in study guides, or at your local library.

4. Get Help from a Tutor

If you need additional help preparing for the AP Human Geography exam, consider getting a tutor. A tutor can help you to understand the content, review your essays, and answer your questions, which can help to improve your score on the exam.

5. Stay Positive

It is important to stay positive when preparing for the AP Human Geography exam. Don't get discouraged if you don't understand everything right away. Just keep studying and practicing and you will eventually get there. Remember, the exam is not as important as what you learn while preparing for it.
