Writing Smart Learning Objectives

University of North

Introduction

Learning objectives are essential for effective teaching and learning. They provide a clear understanding of what students are expected to achieve by the end of a lesson, unit, or course. By writing smart learning objectives, instructors can ensure that their instruction is aligned with their intended outcomes and that students have a clear understanding of their expectations.

What are SMART Learning Objectives?

SMART is an acronym that stands for Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Time-Bound. Smart learning objectives meet the following criteria:

- Specific: Clearly state the desired outcome without ambiguity.
- Measurable: Can be assessed through observable behaviors or products.
- Achievable: Realistic and attainable for students with the resources and support available.
- Relevant: Aligned with the overall learning goals and curriculum.
- Time-Bound: Have a specific deadline or timeframe for completion.

How to Write SMART Learning Objectives

To write smart learning objectives, follow these steps:

1. Identify the specific knowledge, skills, or abilities students should gain.
2. Specify the observable behaviors or products that will demonstrate student achievement.
3. State the level of performance expected, such as "identify," "explain," or "apply."
4. Consider the resources and support available to students and set realistic expectations.
5. Include a timeframe for completion, such as "by the end of the unit" or "on the final exam."

Examples of Smart Learning Objectives

- Specific: Students will be able to write a persuasive essay that clearly states a thesis, provides relevant examples, and effectively engages the reader.
- Measurable: Students will submit a 5-paragraph essay that meets the following criteria: clear thesis, relevant examples, and engaging writing style.
- Achievable: Students will have access to writing workshops and feedback from peers and the instructor.

- Relevant: This objective aligns with the course goal of improving writing skills and critical thinking abilities.
- Time-Bound: Students will complete the essay by the end of the semester.

Benefits of Writing Smart Learning Objectives

Writing smart learning objectives has several benefits:

- Improved student understanding of expectations
- Enhanced focus on desired outcomes during instruction
- Effective alignment of assessment with learning goals
- Clear communication between instructors and students
- Increased student motivation and accountability
