Teoría del Delito: Preguntas y Respuestas según Eduardo López Betancourt

La teoría del delito, elaborada por el criminólogo colombiano Eduardo López Betancourt, ofrece un marco para comprender los elementos constitutivos del delito. A continuación, presentamos algunas preguntas y respuestas clave sobre esta teoría.

1. ¿Qué es la teoría del delito según López Betancourt?

Es un sistema lógico-deductivo que define el delito como una conducta humana culpable, antijurídica y punible. Establece los elementos esenciales que deben concurrir para la configuración de un hecho delictivo.

2. ¿Cuáles son los elementos del delito?

López Betancourt identifica los siguientes elementos:

- Conducta: Acción u omisión voluntaria que produce un resultado lesivo.
- Resultado: Consecuencia del actuar humano que vulnera un bien jurídico protegido.
- Tipicidad: Adecuación de la conducta a un tipo penal descrito en la ley.
- Antijuridicidad: Contradicción de la conducta con el ordenamiento jurídico.
- Culpabilidad: Reprochabilidad personal del sujeto activo por su actuar delictivo.
- Punibilidad: Posibilidad legal de imponer una sanción al responsable del delito.

3. ¿Qué importancia tiene la culpabilidad en la teoría del delito?

La culpabilidad es un elemento fundamental que determina la responsabilidad penal del autor del delito. López Betancourt distingue entre dolo (intención) y culpa (negligencia), estableciendo que ambos pueden generar responsabilidad penal.

4. ¿Cómo se determina la culpabilidad?

Para determinar la culpabilidad, se deben analizar los siguientes aspectos:

- Capacidad de entender y querer del sujeto.
- Conocimiento de la ilicitud del hecho.
- Ausencia de causas de exculpación o atenuación.

5. ¿Cuál es el significado de la punibilidad en la teoría del delito?

La punibilidad es la posibilidad legal de aplicar una sanción al responsable del delito. López Betancourt enfatiza que la punibilidad es una consecuencia jurídica del delito, pero no es un elemento constitutivo del mismo.
