Relative Clauses and Non-Defining Relative Clauses

What is a Relative Clause?

A relative clause, also known as an adjective clause, is a dependent clause that modifies a noun or pronoun in the main clause. It begins with a relative pronoun (who, which, that, or whose) and provides additional information about the noun or pronoun.

What is a Non-Defining Relative Clause?

A non-defining relative clause, also known as a non-restrictive relative clause, provides additional information about a noun or pronoun but is not essential to its meaning. It is separated from the main clause by commas.

Example of Non-Defining Relative Clauses:

- John, who is my best friend, is getting married next week.
- The car, which was a gift from my parents, is now broken.

10 Examples of Relative Clauses:

1. The man who lives next door is a doctor.
2. The book that I am reading is very interesting.
3. The dog that is barking is my neighbor's.
4. The students who study hard will pass the exam.

5. The store where I bought the shoes is having a sale.
6. The town that I grew up in is very small.
7. The woman whose car was stolen is very upset.
8. The movie that won the award was very good.
9. The house that is for sale is very expensive.
10. The job that I have is very challenging.

Defining and Non-Defining Relative Clauses

- Defining relative clauses are essential to the meaning of the main clause. They cannot be separated by commas.
- Non-defining relative clauses provide additional information but are not essential to the meaning of the main clause. They are separated by commas.

3 Defining Relative Clauses:

1. The man who is tall is my teacher.
2. The car that is red is mine.
3. The students who are studying are passing their exams.

Relatives Defining Relative Clauses

Relatives defining relative clauses are essential to the meaning of the main clause. They cannot be separated by commas.

Example of a Non-Defining Adjective Clause:

- My friend, who is a doctor, is getting married next week.

Rules of Relative Clause:

1. The relative pronoun agrees with the noun or pronoun it refers to in number and gender.
  2. The relative clause is introduced by a relative pronoun (who, which, that, or whose).
  3. The relative clause is separated from the main clause by a comma if it is a non-defining clause.

Difference Between Relative Clause and Relative Pronoun:

A relative clause is a dependent clause that modifies a noun or pronoun in the main clause, while a relative pronoun is a word that introduces a relative clause.

20 Examples of Relative Pronouns:

1. Who
2. Which
3. That
4. Whose
5. Whoever
6. Whomever
7. Whatever
8. Whomever
9. Whoso
10. That
11. Where
12. Wherefore
13. Wherefrom
14. Wherein
15. Whereof
16. Whereon
17. Whereto
18. Whereunder
19. Wherever
20. Wherewith

Why Can't We Use That in Non-Defining Relative Clauses?

In general, that is not used in non-defining relative clauses because it creates confusion. Non-defining relative clauses are separated by commas, and the comma would be interpreted as separating that from the rest of the sentence.

10 Clauses Examples:

1. The man who is tall is my teacher.

2. The car that is red is mine.
3. The students who are studying are passing their exams.
4. The book that I bought yesterday is very interesting.
5. The movie that won the award was very good.
6. The house that is for sale is very expensive.
7. The woman whose car was stolen is very upset.
8. The job that I have is very challenging.
9. The town where I grew up is very small.
10. The store where I bought the shoes is having a sale.

Non-Defining Relative Clause Answers:

1. The information in the relative clause is not essential to the meaning of the main clause.
2. The relative clause is separated from the main clause by commas.

Five Relative Clauses:

1. Who
2. Which
3. That
4. Whose
5. Where

Difference Between a Relative Clause and a Relative Pronoun:

A relative clause is a dependent clause that modifies a noun or pronoun in the main clause, while a relative pronoun is a word that introduces a relative clause.

Meaning of Relative Clauses:

Relative clauses provide additional information about a noun or pronoun in the main clause. They can be used to describe, identify, or give more context.

Relative Clause and Noun Clause:

A relative clause is an adjective clause that modifies a noun, while a noun clause is a subordinate clause that functions as a noun in the sentence.
