What are some general questions about Things Fall Apart?

Why is chapter 23 of Things Fall Apart important? This chapter describes the oppressive yet naive approach that the British took to ensure colonial justice. Although the District Commissioner says that he wants to hear both sides of the clan leaders' story, he doesn't trust the leaders and imprisons them while he collects a fine from the village.

What is the purpose of chapter 6 Things Fall Apart? What is chapter 6 about in Things Fall Apart? Chapter 6 tells of the wrestling match that occurs at the Feast of the New Yam. Drummers begin before the match and continue playing during the match.

What is the central idea of Things Fall Apart? Things Fall Apart centers on the Igbo and native culture, and the effects colonization has on an area. Achebe portrays a rich and complex culture that is the backbone to Okonkwo's society until colonization ultimately wipes out that culture in favor of a more western culture.

Why can't Okonkwo be buried? Obierika asks the Commissioner if his men will cut Okonkwo down from the tree and bury him. According to tradition, the people of the clan cannot touch the body of a man who killed himself — a sin against the earth.

Why does Okonkwo hang himself? Okonkwo hangs himself because he cannot stand to watch his culture die out under the weight of colonialism. He has always had great pride in his tribe.

What is chapter 20 of Things Fall Apart about? Chapter twenty of "Things Fall Apart" tells the story of Okonkwo's return to Umuofia and gives the reader a view of the changes that have happened since Okonkwo was forced to leave the village seven years ago.

What is chapter 24 of Things Fall Apart about? In chapter twenty-four of Things Fall Apart, Okonkwo has been released from prison, but he is now prepared to fight the English. He believes that his clan has changed, but that if they show themselves to be manly, they will declare war on the English for having declared themselves as the leaders of the region.

What is chapter 22 of Things Fall Apart about? Chapter 22 of Things Fall Apart tells of the violent conflict that occurs between the Umuofians and the missionaries and converts. It is a chapter of strong religious beliefs and what can come from a lack of understanding and respect.

What happens in chapter 7 of Things Fall Apart? The seventh chapter of Things Fall Apart jumps three years ahead to describe the death of Ikemefuna, who is sentenced to die by the Umuofian oracle. The death saddens Okonkwo and changes Nwoye, who had tried to act more like his father desired, but comes to believe that the village's cultural practices aren't proper.

What happened in chapter 10 of Things Fall Apart? In chapter 10 of Things Fall Apart readers are introduced to the judicial body known as the egwugwu. Ezinma has iba, a fever, and Okonkwo leaves to cut some plants in the nearby bush for medicine.

Who is Okonkwo's favorite wife? Chinua Achebe's 1958 novel Things Fall Apart follows an Igbo leader, Okonkwo, through his tumultuous life in colonial Nigeria. His second wife Ekwefi is perhaps his favorite of all of his wives, and her daughter is by far his favorite child.

What are the three themes in Things Fall Apart?

Why was Ikemefuna killed? He tells Okonkwo that the Oracle has decreed that Ikemefuna must be killed as part of the retribution for the woman killed three years before in Mbaino.

Why is Okonkwo's death ironic? In Things Fall Apart, the irony is that a proud, successful, and important man such as Okonkwo ends up hanging himself. It's tragic irony because the reader has many hints that this might happen. The reader sees on multiple occasions that Okonkwo doesn't deal well with change.

Why is Okonkwo's death important? Rather than a tragic act, Okonkwo's suicide can be seen as his last attempt to remind the Igbo people of their culture and values in the face of impending colonisation.

Who cuts down Okonkwo's body? Obierika asks for the Commissioner's help to cut down and bury Okonkwo's body. When the Commissioner asks why the Umuofians can't do it themselves, Obierika explains that it is against their customs. The Umuofians believe that the bodies of suicide victims are evil and unclean and they must be buried by strangers.

Why does Okonkwo call himself a shivering old woman? In calling himself a “shivering old woman,” Okonkwo associates weakness with femininity. Although he denigrates his emotional attachment to Ikemefuna, he seeks comfort in his affectionate friendship with Obierika.

Why does Okonkwo walk away after killing the messenger? Someone even asks why Okonkwo killed the messenger. Understanding that his clan will not go to war, Okonkwo wipes his machete free of blood and departs. He had already chosen the title of the book . . . The Pacification of the Primitive Tribes of the Lower Niger.

What happens to Nwoye? Nwoye leaves the hut and never returns. Instead, Nwoye moves to Umuofia, where the white missionary started a school for young people. What is the main problem in Things Fall Apart? Major conflict On one level, the conflict is between the traditional society of Umuofia and the new customs brought by the whites, which are in turn adopted by many of the villagers. Okonkwo also struggles to be as different from his deceased father as possible.
