CHAPTER 23 INDEPENDENCE AND DEVELOPMENT IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH 1914 PRESENT

STUD

What is the difference between the global north and the global south in terms of economy? These include politics, technology, wealth and demography.

What are the causes of global divides? Global divides have complex causes, including economic disparities, unequal access to resources, geopolitical power imbalances, historical legacies of colonization, and technological gaps.

What is the agenda of the Global South? By 1969, these worldviews had inspired many governments of countries now considered part of the Global South to reshape the global order. This agenda had two main objectives, often pursued along separate diplomatic tracks: asserting geopolitical nonalignment and demanding a structural overhaul of the world economy.

The Global South has the economic attribute of pursuing sustainable development, but it also has the political attribute of pushing the evolution of the international order in a more just and rational direction, so it is a political concept that is highly relevant to the evolution of the international order.

How can the gap between the Global North and Global South be resolved? Some economists have argued that international free trade and unhindered capital flows across countries could lead to a contraction in the North–South divide. In this case more equal trade and flow of capital would allow the possibility for developing countries to further develop economically.
