What products do not need a CPSr? A CPSR is required for any cosmetic product that comes into contact with the skin. It is not required for candles, room sprays, shower steamers for example.

How long is a CPSR valid for? CPSR's remain valid until there is either a change in UK government regulations or changes in you formulation / details. All changes require you to submit and pay for a change via the "change my CPSR" option online. We are unable to make amendments to CPSR's more than 24 months old.

Do you need a license to sell skin care products USA? You can register your business with your local county or city Government. Although the FDA does not require sellers to obtain a dedicated cosmetics license, it does encourage beauty brands to register their products under the Voluntary Cosmetic Registration Program (VCRP).

Do you need a CPSr for perfume? A cosmetic safety assessment – or CPSR – is a document, prepared and signed by a qualified cosmetic safety assessor, that confirms whether or not a particular product complies with UK and EU cosmetic regulation. All cosmetic products placed on the UK and EU markets must have a cosmetic safety assessment.

Do bath salts need a CPSr? For UK and EU clients, it's essential to comply with regulatory requirements and obtain a CPSR for any cosmetic product that you make and sell.

What is the purpose of Cpsr? The Current Program Status Register (CPSR) holds processor status and control information.

How to get a cosmetic product tested? If you want to create and sell your own cosmetics, then a Cosmetic Product Safety Report (CPSR) is a legal requirement that must be written by a certified chemist. Also known as a Safety Assessment, a CPSR is a legal document required to ensure the safety of all cosmetic products placed on the retail market.

Who is responsible for the safety of cosmetic products? It also means they must not be prepared, packed, or stored in a way in which they may have become contaminated or harmful to health. Companies and individuals who manufacture or

From melt and pour soap to liquid wash, whipped soap, bathbombs, perfumes and more, we're now offering a wide assortment of products to allow you to create and sell your handmade products but more importantly, have the legal assurance that they have been assessed by our certified assessment partner.

Can I make and sell my own beauty products? Do I need to get a license from FDA to manufacture or market cosmetics? FDA does not license cosmetics firms. However, state or local authorities may require licensing or have other requirements you need to know about. You will need to contact your state or local authorities directly.

Do cosmetics need a safety data sheet? A finished cosmetic product is not classified as a chemical ingredient, so it does not need a SDS. If you sell direct to consumer from your own website, a market stall or your own store, then there is no obligation to have a SDS for your finished cosmetic product.

Do I need an MSDS for my product? It should also be noted that MSDSs are only required for hazardous chemicals and only to be sent with their initial shipment and with the first shipment after a MSDS is updated. In practice, MSDSs are prepared and provided for many products that are not covered by the HCS.

What kind of testing is mandatory for cosmetic products? As such, the FDA does not have a list of tests required for any cosmetic product or ingredient. However, cosmetic regulations require beauty products to be safe when used according to labeling directions.

What is a cosmetic product safety assessment? As per Article 3, Part B of the CPSR is the actual evaluation of the safety of the cosmetic product and contains the following: Conclusion of the evaluation. Warning and instructions for use on the label. Reasoning. References of the assessor and approval of Part B.

Splitting: Protecting Yourself While Divorcing Someone with Borderline or Narcissistic Personality Disorder

Q: What is splitting? A: Splitting is a defense mechanism common in borderline or narcissistic personality disorder where an individual views people and situations in extreme terms, as either "all good" or "all bad." They may idealize someone one day and devalue them the next, leading to unstable relationships.

Q: How can splitting affect a divorce? A: During a divorce, splitting can make it difficult to communicate effectively, resolve issues amicably, and reach a fair settlement. The individual with the personality disorder may perceive their ex-partner as completely evil and may engage in manipulative behaviors to punish or control them.

Q: What are some warning signs of splitting in a divorce? A: Signs of splitting in a divorce include:

- Sudden and extreme shifts in perception of the ex-partner
- Accusatory or blaming language
- Difficulty seeing any positive qualities in the ex-partner
- Attempts to isolate the ex-partner from family and friends

Q: How can I protect myself from splitting while divorcing? A: Here are some tips to protect yourself from splitting:

- Set clear boundaries and communicate them effectively.
- Limit contact with the ex-partner as much as possible, especially during high-conflict times.
- Seek support from a therapist or counselor who understands personality disorders.
- Document the ex-partner's behavior, including any abusive or manipulative tactics.

Q: What happens if the ex-partner continues to split? A: If the ex-partner continues to split, it may be necessary to limit contact further or consider legal action. It's important to prioritize your safety and well-being and seek professional help to navigate the challenges of divorcing someone with a personality disorder.

With No Direction Home: Homeless Youth on the Road and in the Streets

Homelessness among youth is a sobering issue that plagues many communities today. Homeless youth, often referred to as "street kids" or "runaways," face a multitude of challenges on a daily basis, including hunger, illness, exploitation, and abuse. They are also at an increased risk for mental health problems, substance abuse, and criminal activity.

Causes of Youth Homelessness

The causes of youth homelessness are complex and multifaceted. Some youth are forced to leave home due to abuse or neglect. Others may be fleeing violence or conflict in their homes or communities. Still others may simply be unable to afford housing due to poverty or lack of family support.

Consequences of Youth Homelessness

The consequences of youth homelessness are devastating. Homeless youth are more likely to experience poor health, mental illness, and substance abuse. They are also more likely to drop out of school, become involved in crime, and experience violence. In addition, homeless youth are often stigmatized and marginalized by society.

Case Studies on Contemporary Social Issues

The following case studies illustrate the challenges faced by homeless youth and the importance of providing them with support and services:

- Case Study 1: Maria, a 16-year-old runaway, was forced to leave home after being abused by her stepfather. She lived on the streets for several months, begging for food and sleeping in abandoned buildings. Eventually, she was taken into custody by the police and placed in a shelter for homeless youth.

- Case Study 2: John, an 18-year-old runaway, left home after his parents lost their jobs and were evicted from their apartment. He lived on the streets for several months, working odd jobs and couch-surfing with friends. Eventually, he was able to find shelter at a local youth center.

What Can Be Done to Help Homeless Youth?

There are a number of things that can be done to help homeless youth. These include:

- Providing affordable housing and support services: Homeless youth need access to safe and stable housing as well as support services such as mental health counseling, substance abuse treatment, and job training.
- Raising awareness about youth homelessness: The public needs to be educated about the challenges faced by homeless youth and the importance of providing them with support.
- Preventing youth homelessness: Programs and policies that address the root causes of youth homelessness, such as poverty, abuse, and neglect, are essential for preventing this problem from occurring in the first place.

By working together, we can help homeless youth get off the streets and on the path to a better future.
