Writing an Action Research Proposal

Components of an Action Research Proposal

An action research proposal typically includes the following components:

- Introduction: States the research problem, purpose, and significance.
- Literature Review: Summarizes relevant literature and supports the need for the study.
- Research Design: Describes the research methods, data collection techniques, and analysis procedures.
- Action Plan: Outlines the specific interventions or actions to be implemented.
- Evaluation Plan: Details how the effectiveness of the interventions will be evaluated.
- Expected Outcomes and Impact: Discusses the anticipated results and their potential impact on practice.
- Timeline and Budget: Provides an estimate of the time and resources required for the project.

Writing the Action Plan

The action plan is a crucial part of the proposal. It should clearly describe:

- What actions will be taken
- Who will be responsible for implementing the actions

- When the actions will be implemented
- How the actions will be evaluated

Methodology of Action Research

Action research employs a cyclical process:

1. Identify a problem
2. Plan an intervention
3. Implement the intervention
4. Reflect on the results
5. Make adjustments

Format of Action Research

Typically, action research papers follow the APA (American Psychological Association) format. This includes:

- Double-spaced text
- 1-inch margins
- 12-point Times New Roman font
- Title page with the title, author's name, affiliation, and date

Steps in Writing an Action Research Paper

1. Identify a research problem
2. Develop a research question
3. Conduct a literature review
4. Develop an action plan
5. Implement the intervention
6. Collect and analyze data
7. Interpret the results and draw conclusions
8. Write the research paper

Example of Action Research

- A teacher implementing a new teaching strategy to improve student engagement
- A nurse developing a program to reduce patient falls
- A community group creating a neighborhood watch program
