Unveiling the 231 251 Indicator 1 CTISSB

Q: What is the 231 251 Indicator 1 CTISSB? A: The 231 251 Indicator 1 CTISSB is a specific code within a larger indicator set used by the Department of Defense (DoD) to categorize and track transportation contracts. It falls under the Defense Transportation Tracking System (DTTS) and provides detailed information about contracts related to personal property moves.

Q: What is the purpose of this indicator? A: The Indicator 1 CTISSB helps the DoD track and manage personal property moves for military personnel and their families. It provides insights into the types of contracts, timelines, and costs associated with these moves.

Q: What types of contracts does this indicator cover? A: The Indicator 1 CTISSB encompasses contracts for personal property moves, such as household goods shipments, privately owned vehicle (POV) transportation, and non-temporary storage.

Q: How is this indicator used? A: DoD agencies, such as the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA), use this indicator to oversee and analyze personal property moves. It assists in ensuring that contracts are executed efficiently, costs are controlled, and military families receive timely and quality support.

Q: What is the significance of the CTISSB suffix? A: The CTISSB suffix indicates that the contract is managed by the DLA's Central Transportation Integrated Support Bureau (CTISSB). This bureau is responsible for managing personal property moves for the Department of the Navy.
