What are the 7 biggest unanswered questions in physics?

What is the hardest problem to solve in physics? The unification of quantum mechanics and general relativity: Quantum mechanics and general relativity are two of the most successful theories in physics, but they are incompatible with each other. Physicists have been trying to develop a theory that unifies the two for decades, but have yet to find a solution.

What is the hardest science question? What happens to us after we die? How did so much life appear on our planet when others seem devoid of any species at all? Who, if anyone, pulls the strings of our universe? Is it some all-powerful god in control or are there physical and mathematical principles driving the engine of our existence?

What is the most complex question in physics? Size of universe: The diameter of the observable universe is about 93 billion light-years, but what is the size of the whole universe? Is the universe infinite? Baryon asymmetry: Why is there far more matter than antimatter in the observable universe?

Which question Cannot be answered scientifically? An example of a question that cannot be answered by science is, “Am I under an obligation to take care of my aging, ailing parents, who abused me when I was a child, just because they ARE my parents?” Science cannot, and would not try, to answer an ethical question such as that.

What are extremely hard physics equations? For example, the equation  $\frac{d}{dx}(x^2 \frac{dy}{dx}) + x^2 y^3 = 0$  is already unsolvable (and this is a realistic equation: the Lane-Emden equation models a polytropic star), but we can make it even harder by inserting  $\frac{d}{dx}(x^2 \frac{dy}{dx}) + x^2 y^3 = f(x, y)$  where  $f(x, y)$  is some non-zero and perhaps non-linear function.

What is the hardest math question?

What is the hardest math in physics? Answer to the question (What is the hardest physics equation?): \* The hardest general equation to arrive at is perhaps the relativistic mass-energy equation  $E = \{m_0\} c^2 / \sqrt{1 - \{v^2\}/\{c^2\}}$  . \* The hardest specific equations to solve are perhaps the nonlinear Schrodinger equations or nonlinear solito...
