Download Complete File

What is the basic introduction to polymers? Polymers are materials composed of long molecular chains that are well-accepted for a wide variety of applications. This unit explores these materials in terms of their chemical composition, associated properties and processes of manufacture from petrochemicals.

What are the 4 main polymers? Proteins (polymers of amino acids) Carbohydrates (polymers of sugars) Lipids (polymers of lipid monomers) Nucleic acids (DNA and RNA; polymers of nucleotides)

Why is water not a polymer? An example of a small molecule is water--it contains three atoms--two of hydrogen and one of oxygen. Polymers are very large molecules compared to water. They have many more atoms than a water molecule--from 10,000 to 100,000 atoms per molecule.

Q: What are the key principles of Tracy Hogg's method? Hogg's approach focuses on creating a consistent and predictable sleep environment for babies. She believes in establishing a regular sleep-wake cycle, providing a calming bedtime routine, and avoiding overfeeding or overstimulating infants.

Q: What is the "EASY" method? The EASY acronym stands for Eat, Activity, Sleep, You-time.
