Can I self learn blender? But with time and practice, it can be mastered. With many resources available online and offline, it's easier to learn Blender 3D. Additionally, with patience and persistence, anyone can learn to create professional-grade 3D content using Blender 3D.

What to do before using a blender? Cool hot liquids or semi-solids for 3 to 5 minutes before processing them in a blender. "When foods or liquids are hot and then whipped around in a blender, they will create steam that can burn your skin upon lifting the lid. Intense heat can also wear down the blades, which is another reason to cool foods slightly.

Should I read the blender manual? This manual is a good start, though it serves more as a reference. There are also many online video tutorials from specialized websites. Despite everything Blender can do, it remains a tool.

Can you use a blender instead of a hand blender? The short answer is you probably don't need both an immersion blender and a regular blender. Ziata says that as long as you have a quality heavy-duty regular blender, you'll be able to do plenty. "Both are helpful to have and have different uses," says Ziata.
