Who wrote the Inspector Gadget theme song? Video. "Inspector Gadget" is the theme song from the films Inspector Gadget and Inspector Gadget 2. It was originally written by Haim Saban and Shuki Levy for the original cartoon series that aired from 1983 to 1986.

Is Inspector Gadget a book? A preview issue was published as part of Free Comic Book Day on May 7, 2011; the entire story was then released officially in August as a 48-page comic book titled "Inspector Gadget: Gadget on the Orient Express". The comic book was written by Dale Mettam and illustrated by José Cobá.

Does Inspector Gadget have autism? This would explain why he's so incompetent and stupid in the show; it's a reflection of his disabilities. The disability in question that Gadget has is possibly moderate-to-severe autism.

Do we ever see Dr. Claw's face? Claw's face There were only 5 instances where his face was visible: In the first live-action film (it was partially hidden in the sequel). In the SNES game where he is fought as the final boss, half of his face is seen.

Why does Dr. Claw hate Inspector Gadget? An evil genius, Claw initially only sought to improve his wealth through stealing any new technology. After his fortune was taken following his arrest, his primary goal was to rebuild his empire. He holds a seething hatred of Inspector Gadget, whom he blames for losing his left hand and was responsible for his arrest.

What was Dr. Claus Cat's name? Mad Cat may refer to: M.A.D.

What is Inspector Gadget's real name? In the original cartoon, Gadget's real name is never revealed, but it emerged in 2018 that French press materials gave his canon name as Augustin Tamare (though even his niece Penny would call him Uncle Gadget in-series). In the live-action film, his real name is John Brown.

Is Jim Carrey in Inspector Gadget? Before Broderick was cast to play Inspector Gadget, Jim Carrey, Steve Martin, Chevy Chase, Brendan Fraser, Kevin Kline, Steve Carell, Tom Hanks, Tim Allen, and Robin Williams were considered for the role.

Why is Inspector Gadget 2 different? Unlike the first film (which has a serious and darker tone and received a PG rating), Inspector Gadget 2 received a G rating and is considered a more faithful adaptation of the original animated series; the characters' personalities were altered to more closely match those of their cartoon counterparts and Doctor Claw' ...

What race is Inspector Gadget? On the show, Inspector Gadget is a cyborg detective and secret agent, who must stop an evil organization called "MAD", lead by Dr. Claw. He is usually helped by his niece, Penny, and his dog, Brain.

Why did Inspector Gadget have a mustache? This was the pilot episode of the series. One of the most notable differences from the series is that Inspector Gadget sports a mustache, which was dropped in later episodes because it made him look too much like the trademarked likeness of rival MGM Studios' character Inspector Clouseau (animated version).

What does mad cat stand for in Inspector Gadget? It is run by the main antagonist Doctor Claw and, like many other organizations such as SPECTRE and The Syndicate, its goal is world domination. According to different episodes, M.A.D. stands for either the Malevolent Agency of Destruction or Mean And Dirty.

Does Inspector Gadget always use the wrong gadget? He often uses a gadget that he did not call for, and is sometimes prone to causing trouble inadvertently for those around him—an example of this is a running gag, inspired by the "self-destruct" message, in which Inspector Gadget is given briefing messages from his boss Chief Quimby, who primarily hands them to him ...

Why was Inspector Gadget so bad? Matthew Broderick struggles to make a convincing enough title character, but I do think it is to do with the fact that the role of Inspector Gadget is badly underwritten. Having said that, the script is very weak, and lacks any sense of plot and drive, and the plot is rather slow moving and doesn't make much sense.

Who was Inspector Gadget's nemesis? Inspector Gadget is back and must face his old enemy, the evil Dr. Claw, who has reactivated MAD, his global crime syndicate. Watch all you want. The original "Inspector Gadget" TV series, produced from 1983 to 1986, is still shown in reruns around the world.

Who is Dr. Claw's mother? Maryland Claw is Dr. Claw's and Dr. Thaw's mother. Just like her son's and her husband, she is a criminal mastermind.

How old is Penny from Inspector Gadget? Penny's age throughout the original animated series is 10 years old. Two years later, she is 12 years old in Gadget and the Gadgetinis and Inspector Gadget's Last Case. 3 years later, she is 15 in the 2015 series. A year later, she is 16 years old in the 2005 film Inspector Gadget's Biggest Caper Ever.

Who is the evil doctor in Inspector Gadget? The film tells the origin story of Inspector Gadget as he attempts to foil an evil plot concocted by the series villain, Dr. Claw.

Where was Inspector Gadget filmed? Pittsburgh stood in for the fictional town of Riverton, Ohio, and the Sixth Street Bridge — its name at the time — figures prominently in the movie during the climactic battle scene. “Inspector Gadget” also filmed on the South Side, in PPG Plaza and at Point State Park.

Does Talon have a crush on Penny? Training Day. When Talon said penny has some game, Professor Von Slickstien and Sir Owen Von Stoner said "Oooh! He likes her!" After that, Talon blushed slightly (because he actually does have a crush on her).

What did Penny call the Inspector Gadget? While one can assume Penny's last name is Brown or Gadget, she frequently calls him "Uncle Gadget," suggesting that Gadget may be her maternal uncle or that he had his gadgets before Penny was born or before she met him.

What kind of breed of dog is brain from Inspector Gadget? Beagles are very popular, especially in mainstream media. Charles Schultz featured them in his “Peanuts” cartoon, countless Disney movies have portrayed beagles, and the famous Inspector Gadget has a beagle named Brains in multiple cartoons and movies.
