What questions do you have about the California Gold Rush or what are you wondering?

What was the California Gold Rush Short answer? The California gold rush (1848–1855) was a gold rush that began on January 24, 1848, when gold was found by James W. Marshall at Sutter's Mill in Coloma, California. The news of gold brought approximately 300,000 people to California from the rest of the United States and abroad.

The California Gold Rush was the mass migration of Americans and others to California in search of gold, which was discovered at Sutter's Mill in 1848. When he heard news of the California Gold Rush, he headed to San Francisco where he established his wholesale dry

Who made the most money during the Gold Rush? More than the dreamers who came seeking their fortunes, it was entrepreneurs like Brannan who got rich during the Gold Rush. By 1860, Brannan was one of the richest men in California, considered by many to be the territory's first millionaire.

Answer and Explanation: The discovery of gold in California affected the debate over slavery because it promoted further expansion into the American West. In turn, this prompted debates over what new Western states, if any, would be allowed to have slavery.

How did the California Gold Rush fulfill Manifest Destiny? If the great draw of the West served as manifest destiny's kindling, then the discovery of gold in California was the spark that set the fire ablaze. Most western settlers sought land ownership, but the lure of getting rich quick drew younger single men (with some women) to gold towns throughout the West.

Why do you think the gold rush was important to California? The discovery of silver on the other side of the Sierras in Nevada brought an end to the California gold rush; at its height, about $80 million (some $1.9 billion in 2005 dollars) had been pulled annually from the gold fields, but that figure had fallen by almost half when the Comstock Lode was discovered.

How did the Gold Rush help California become a state? With the Gold Rush came a huge increase in population and a pressing need for civil government. In 1849, Californians sought statehood and, after heated debate in the U.S. Congress arising out of the slavery issue, California entered the Union as a free, nonslavery state by the Compromise of 1850.

What was the impact of the California Gold Rush in terms of diversity? The diversity brought on by the gold rush made California on par with major cities like New York in terms of ethnicity the variety of races occupying the state.
