What is the Bonus-Malus system? In insurance, a bonus–malus system (BMS) is a system that adjusts the premium paid by a customer according to their individual claim history. Bonus usually is a discount in the premium which is given on the renewal of the policy if no claim is made in the previous year.

What is the Bonus-Malus coefficient? Bonus-Malus is a system according to which the insurance premium defined in the CMTPL contract is calculated based on the insurance history of the driver (authorized owner and/or the Insured). Discounts are given to disciplined drivers and additional premiums to drivers who have accidents.

What is a Bonus-Malus category? The Bonus-Malus class is calculated taking into account the last 11 years of insurance history of the Bonus-Malus subject. To determine the increased Bonus-Malus class, the vehicle must be insured for at least 275 days per year. Otherwise, the vehicle remains in Class 6.

What is the malus bonus clause? Malus refers to a financial penalty which results in the reduction of 'at risk' remuneration, such as a bonus. 'Malus' is essentially a negative 'bonus'.

What are the levels of bonus-malus? The legal third-party liability bonus-malus scale ranges from -3 (best bonus) to 22 (highest malus). 11 is the basic level for a new driver.

What is the bonus-malus system in Germany? A bonus-malus class (normally known as a no-claims bonus outside of Germany and sometimes abbreviated as SF class) indicates how many years you have driven without having an accident or filing a claim. If you go a whole year without filing a claim, your bonus-malus class increases by one level.

What is the rule of Malus? Malus's Law The law can be stated in words as follows: The intensity of the transmitted light varies as the square of the cosine of the angle between the two planes of transmission.
