Which animals have weapons?

Which animal can stop a bullet? Armadillo 'armour' – composed of bony plates known as osteoderms – has been seen to deflect bullets. In one incident, a Texan man was hit in the face when his own bullet bounced back from an armadillo that he tried to shoot - justice perhaps?

What is the toughest animal in a fight? The African elephant is the planet's toughest animal even beating a ferocious Siberian tiger in a simulated fight.

Is Rhino skin bulletproof? No, it is not bulletproof. If it was Rhinos wouldn't be in a list of endangered species!!. Rhinos skin is usually 1–5 cm in thickness. They are protections against thorns and thick grasses where Rhinos spend a lot of time.

What animal can outrun a bullet? Cheetah (Acinonyx jubatus) running in Kenya.

What animal is faster than a bullet? However, the ocean-dwelling cone snail possesses a surprising, lightning-fast ability. It strikes prey with harpoons that travel so fast that they are one of the fastest means of attack in the entire animal kingdom. Their venomous harpoons travel at speeds so extreme scientists have compared them to fired bullets.

What animal is unbeatable? Tardigrades are among the most resilient animals known, with individual species able to survive extreme conditions – such as exposure to extreme temperatures, extreme pressures (both high and low), air deprivation, radiation, dehydration, and starvation – that would quickly kill most other known forms of life.

What animal would win every fight? The results show that the elephant wears the crown in the animal kingdom – but only slightly. Elephants had a win rate of 74%, just fractions of a percent ahead of their single-horned cousins – the rhinoceros – in second place, also on 74%. Not far behind in third place is the grizzly bear, at 73%.

Can a man beat a horse in a fight? A human can successfully fist fight anything, however, winning is the problem in some cases, for example, fist fighting a horse would be over quick as the horse would 9 times out of ten run away. The time it doesn't run away, you lose.
