What is the central idea of the Heart of Darkness? The main idea of The Heart of Darkness is that Imperialism is a force of evil that corrupts men, consuming them with greed. In the Congolese jungle, the moral character of colonisers is tested as there's no authority to stop them from violence except their own self-restraint.

Why is Marlow so obsessed with Kurtz? One of the most enigmatic characters in twentieth-century literature, Kurtz is a petty tyrant, a dying god, an embodiment of Europe, and an assault on European values. These contradictory elements combine to make Kurtz so fascinating to Marlow — and so threatening to the Company.

Is Kurtz a villain or a hero? Answer and Explanation: In Heart of Darkness, Kurtz is more aptly described as a tragic hero, a hero who succumbs to a fatal flaw that brings about their downfall. Kurtz is praised throughout the first two sections of the book as a noble man, an intelligent man, and a man that will go far in life.

Why did Marlow stay loyal to Kurtz? For Marlow, guarding Kurtz's legacy is not inconsistent with isolation from society. Remaining loyal to Kurtz is best done by remaining true to his experience, and by not offering up his story to those who will misinterpret or fail to understand it. Marlow keeps these principles in mind once he arrives in Brussels.
