The Dinosaur Tamer and Other Stories for Children with Diabetes

What is it?

"The Dinosaur Tamer and Other Stories for Children with Diabetes" is a collection of short stories written specifically for children living with diabetes. The stories feature characters who also have diabetes, allowing young readers to relate to and learn from their experiences.

Why is it important?

It is crucial to provide children with diabetes with resources that help them understand and cope with their condition. Literature can play a powerful role in this by normalizing diabetes and empowering children to manage it effectively. Stories like "The Dinosaur Tamer" can help children feel less alone and more confident in their daily lives.

Who wrote it?

The book was written by a team of authors, including Dr. Francine Kaufman, a pediatric endocrinologist, and Leslie Kimmelman, a registered dietitian and certified diabetes care and education specialist. The stories are based on real-life experiences shared by children with diabetes.

What are some of the stories in the book?

In "The Dinosaur Tamer," a young boy named Max learns to control his diabetes like a dinosaur tamer. Other stories include "The Carbo Counting Kid," "The Insulin Injection Superhero," and "The Diabetes Dance Party." Each story teaches a different aspect of diabetes management in a fun and engaging way.

How can I get a copy?

"The Dinosaur Tamer and Other Stories for Children with Diabetes" is available for purchase from bookstores, online retailers, and the publisher's website. It is also available in Spanish and French translations.
