The First World War: A Brief History with Documents

The First World War, also known as the Great War, was a global conflict that lasted from 1914 to 1918. It was one of the deadliest wars in history, with over 9 million military and civilian casualties.

Causes of the War

The war began as a result of a complex web of diplomatic alliances, imperial rivalries, and militarism. The assassination of Austrian Archduke Franz Ferdinand in 1914 sparked a chain reaction that led to the outbreak of war. A series of treaties and alliances bound European countries together, and once war was declared, they were obligated to support each other.

Major Events

The war was fought on multiple fronts, including the Western Front in Europe, the Eastern Front in Russia, the Middle East, and Africa. Trench warfare became a common feature of the Western Front, with soldiers living in muddy, rat-infested conditions. In 1915, the Gallipoli campaign in Turkey failed, resulting in heavy casualties for the Allies. The United States entered the war in 1917, and its intervention helped to turn the tide in favor of the Allies.

Key Documents

- German Schlieffen Plan (1905): This plan outlined Germany's strategy for a rapid invasion of France through Belgium.
- Zimmermann Telegram (1917): This secret telegram from Germany to Mexico proposed an alliance against the United States. The telegram was intercepted by British intelligence and helped to galvanize American public opinion in favor of entering the war.

Aftermath

The war ended with the defeat of the Central Powers (Germany, Austria-Hungary, and the Ottoman Empire). The Treaty of Versailles (1919) imposed harsh reparations on Germany and was widely seen as a contributing factor to the outbreak of World War II. The war also led to significant social, political, and economic changes in Europe and around the world.
