Tracks Rock Bottom: An Interview with Sarah Biermann

1. What inspired you to write "Tracks Rock Bottom"?

Sarah Biermann: I was inspired to write "Tracks Rock Bottom" after a period of personal and emotional turmoil. I had hit rock bottom and was struggling to find my way back up. I wanted to share my story in the hopes that it would help others who may be facing similar struggles.

2. What were the biggest challenges you faced while writing the book?

Biermann: The biggest challenge was revisiting my past and reliving some of the painful experiences I had gone through. It was also difficult to find the right words to express my emotions and experiences.

3. What did you learn about yourself while writing the book?

Biermann: I learned that I am stronger than I thought I was. I also learned that it is possible to overcome anything if you have the support of loved ones and the determination to keep going.

4. What do you hope readers will take away from your book?

Biermann: I hope that readers will take away a sense of hope and inspiration. I want them to know that they are not alone and that it is possible to overcome even the most difficult challenges.

5. What are your plans for the future?

Biermann: I am currently working on a new book about mental health and recovery. I am also passionate about speaking out about mental health issues and helping to break the stigma surrounding them.
