Is there a secret code in the Quran? Advocates think that the code represents a mathematical proof of the divine authorship of the Quran, however this claim has not been validated by any independent mathematical or scientific institute. Proponents of the Quran code claim that the code is based on statistical procedures.

What is the secret letter of the Quran? The mysterious letters (muqattaʿat, Arabic: ?????? ?????????? ?ur?f muqattaʿat, "disjoined letters" or "disconnected letters") are combinations of between one and five Arabic letters that appear at the beginning of 29 out of the 114 chapters (surahs) of the Quran just after the Bismillah Islamic phrase.

Why do we put hamza on alif? In order to indicate that a glottal stop is used and not a mere vowel, it was added to Alif diacritically. In modern orthography, hamza may also appear on the line, under certain circumstances as though it were a full letter, independent of an alif.

What is z in Arabic?

What is the dagger Alif in the Quran? It indicates a long /a:/ sound where alif is normally not written, e.g. ?????? h?dh? or ?????????? ra?m?n. The dagger alif occurs in only a few modern words, but these include some common ones; it is seldom written, however, even in fully vocalised texts, except in the Qur'an.

Why is there no p in Arabic? Proto-Semitic, the hypothesized mother-language of Arabic, is supposed to have had the *p sound, but Arabic must have evidently lost it. Other languages belonging to the Semitic family, such as Hebrew and Aramean, have the sound. There is no answer as to the “why” this change happened.
