Undecorate: The No Rules Approach to Interior Design by Christiane Lemieux

Christiane Lemieux, the founder of design company Lemieux et Cie, has established herself as a pioneer in the world of interior design with her unconventional approach known as "undecorating." This philosophy challenges traditional decorating norms, embracing a more minimalist and relaxed aesthetic.

What is Undecorating?

Undecorating is about stripping away excess and focusing on what truly brings joy to the home. It emphasizes simple, functional spaces that are tailored to the individual's needs and preferences. Rather than following trends or adhering to specific styles, undecorating allows for the creation of unique and personal living environments.

Why Undecorate?

In today's fast-paced world, many crave a return to simplicity and authenticity. Undecorating allows for a more comfortable and welcoming home that promotes well-being. By removing clutter and distractions, it creates a space where people can relax, recharge, and connect with what matters most.

How to Undecorate

- Declutter: Start by removing anything that doesn't bring joy or serve a purpose.
- Choose Quality over Quantity: Invest in a few well-made pieces that are durable and timeless.
- Embrace Natural Materials: Wood, stone, and textiles create a sense of warmth and connection to nature.
- Focus on Functionality: Every object in the home should have a purpose.
- Allow for Flexibility: Spaces should be adaptable to changing needs and moods.

Benefits of Undecorating

- Increased Well-being: Undecorated homes promote relaxation, reduce stress, and improve sleep.
- Enhanced Aesthetics: The absence of clutter creates a sense of spaciousness and tranquility.
- Reduced Environmental Impact: Minimalism encourages the use of sustainable materials and less waste.
- Personalized Living: Undecorating allows for the creation of spaces that reflect one's true self and values.
- Financial Savings: By rejecting excess and focusing on quality, undecorating can save money in the long run.
