Honda Accord Service Intervals: A Comprehensive Guide

Recommended Service Intervals

Honda recommends regular service intervals to maintain your Accord's optimal performance and longevity. The service schedule varies depending on driving conditions and mileage, but the standard intervals are:

- Oil change and filter replacement: Every 5,000 miles or 6 months
- Tire rotation: Every 5,000-7,500 miles
- Brake inspection: Every 12,000 miles
- Multi-point inspection: Every 30,000 miles

Major Service Intervals

In addition to the regular maintenance, the Accord requires major services at specific mileage intervals:

- Service A: 30,000 miles (or every 12 months for 30,000-mile leased vehicles)
- Service B: 60,000 miles
- Timing belt replacement: 105,000 miles (or sooner if the belt shows signs of wear)

Service A

Service A includes a comprehensive inspection and routine maintenance tasks, such as:

- Oil and filter change
- Cabin air filter replacement
- Tire rotation
- Brake inspection
- Fluid level checks

Service B

Service B is more extensive than Service A and includes:

- All Service A items
- Spark plug replacement
- Fuel filter replacement
- Throttle body cleaning

Throttle Body Service

The throttle body is a crucial component that controls airflow into the engine. A dirty throttle body can cause various performance issues, such as reduced acceleration and engine stalling. The cost of a throttle body service varies depending on the model year and labor rates, but it typically ranges from $200 to $400.

Resetting the Service Engine Light

To reset the service engine light on a Honda Accord, follow these steps:

1. Turn the ignition key to the "On" position without starting the engine.
2. Hold down the gas pedal for 10 seconds.
3. Turn the ignition key to the "Off" position within 2 seconds of releasing the gas pedal.
4. Remove the key from the ignition and wait 10 seconds.
5. Insert the key back into the ignition and start the engine.

Timing Belt Lifespan

The timing belt is a critical component that synchronizes the crankshaft and camshaft. A broken timing belt can cause catastrophic engine damage. The recommended replacement interval for the timing belt is 105,000 miles, but it's important to have it inspected at every major service interval.

Is Throttle Body Cleaning Worth It?

Throttle body cleaning can improve engine performance and reduce emissions. However, the frequency of cleaning depends on driving habits and fuel quality. If you experience performance issues or have concerns about the throttle body, it's worth considering a professional cleaning.

Throttle Body Lifespan

The lifespan of a throttle body varies depending on usage and maintenance. Typically, it should last around 100,000-150,000 miles. However, it's possible for the throttle body to fail sooner if it's clogged or damaged.

Is It Necessary to Replace the Throttle Body?

Replacing the throttle body is only necessary if it's severely damaged or fails completely. In most cases, a professional cleaning is sufficient to restore its functionality.

Honda Accord Service Frequency

The Honda Accord requires regular servicing, typically every 5,000-10,000 miles or 6-12 months, depending on driving conditions. Consult your vehicle's owner's manual for the specific recommended service intervals.

Best Car Service Interval

The optimal service interval for most vehicles is between 5,000-7,500 miles or 6-12 months. This frequency helps maintain the vehicle's performance, reliability, and safety while minimizing maintenance costs.
