Test Bank for Accounting Principles, Eighth Edition: Chapter 14

Question 1:

Explain the three different cash flows included in the statement of cash flows.

Answer:

The statement of cash flows classifies cash flows into three categories:

IOWA TESTING 6TH GRADE TESTS FASTIX

- Operating activities: Cash flows related to the primary operations of the business, such as sales, expenses, and depreciation.
- Investing activities: Cash flows related to the acquisition and sale of long-term assets, such as equipment and investments.
- Financing activities: Cash flows related to raising capital and repaying debt, such as issuing stock, borrowing loans, and paying dividends.

Question 2:

Describe the direct and indirect methods of preparing the cash flow statement.

Answer:

- Direct method: Subtracts cash payments from cash receipts for each major operating activity category (e.g., cash sales - cash purchases).
- Indirect method: Starts with the net income and adjusts for non-cash expenses, deferrals, and accruals to derive operating cash flow.

Question 3:

What is the purpose of a reconciliation schedule for net income to cash provided by operating activities?

Answer:

The reconciliation schedule shows how the accrual-based net income differs from the cash flow provided by operating activities. It adjusts for non-cash expenses (e.g., depreciation) and accounts for changes in working capital balances (e.g., accounts receivable).

Question 4:

Explain how to analyze a company's cash flow statement to assess its financial health.

Answer:

- Operating cash flow: Indicates the ability to generate cash from operations and cover current obligations.
- Investing cash flow: Shows how the company invests in long-term assets, which can affect future cash flow generation.
- Financing cash flow: Indicates the company's reliance on external financing and its ability to manage debt.
- Net change in cash: Provides an overview of the company's overall cash position and its ability to meet short-term liquidity needs.

Question 5:

Discuss the limitations of the cash flow statement.

Answer:

- Dependence on historical data: Only reflects past cash flows and may not be representative of future performance.
- Potential for manipulation: Companies can use accounting methods to improve the appearance of their cash flow.
- Excludes cash equivalents: May not fully represent the company's liquidity because cash equivalents (e.g., marketable securities) are not included.
