Sinister Sites: The Georgia Guidestones and The Vigilant Citizen

What are the Georgia Guidestones?

The Georgia Guidestones, also known as the American Stonehenge or the Ten Commandments of the New Age, are a set of 10 granite monoliths inscribed with guidelines for humanity. The guidestones, located in Elberton, Georgia, have been shrouded in mystery since their anonymous erection in 1980.

What are the inscriptions on the Georgia Guidestones?

The guidestones bear enigmatic inscriptions in 12 different languages, including English, Chinese, Spanish, Arabic, and Sanskrit. The inscriptions include 10 commandments or principles that advocate for maintaining a population balance, promoting unity and peace, and striving for scientific advancement and environmental stewardship.

Who erected the Georgia Guidestones?

The identity of the person or group responsible for erecting the guidestones remains unknown. A single person calling himself "R.C. Christian" commissioned a local granite company to build the monuments, but his true identity has never been revealed.

What is The Vigilant Citizen?

The Vigilant Citizen is an online blog that explores the hidden meanings and symbolism in popular culture and current events. The site's founder, Ethan Ralph, has dedicated many articles to analyzing the Georgia Guidestones and speculating on their sinister nature.

What are the concerns about the Georgia Guidestones?

Some people believe that the Georgia Guidestones are a monument to Satanism or New World Order conspiracy theories. Critics point to the guidestone's cryptic inscriptions, its remote location, and its association with the late R.C. Christian, a known white supremacist and anti-Semite. However, there is no conclusive evidence to support these claims, and the Georgia Guidestones remain a fascinating and enigmatic piece of modern megalithic architecture.
